What’s Happening at MES?

We are building GROWTH MINDSETS at MES!

Help us by working with your child to change their thinking!

Our mindset can have a tremendous impact on our achievement and success! Recent brain research disproves the notion that intelligence is “fixed” at birth. The same research emphasizes neuroplasticity, which is the ability of the brain to change, adapt, and ‘rewire’ itself to learn new things throughout our lives. Studies show that our intelligence is constantly changing based on effort, persistence, and motivation.

Practice praising your child at home because of their effort and persistence when working on homework, practicing a sport, and when learning new things.

How You Can Help Your Child

Praise the Process— Instead of saying, “You’re so smart!” praise the effort, goal setting, persisting through challenges, or being creative. You can say something like:
• “Wow! You must have worked really hard on this!”

The Brain Can Grow!— Remind your child that their intelligence is not fixed. Remind them that when things are difficult, their brain grows if they persist through the challenge. Each time they learn something new, their brain is making new connections. Your child needs to know this is possible.

Encourage Failure (Say What!?!?)— Your child needs to know that failure can (and often does) happen, and it is okay.

Talk About It— Talk with your child about their day, but guide the conversation by asking questions like:

- Did you make a mistake today?
 - What did you learn?
- What did you do that was difficult today?
